

EIOPA Occupational Pensions Stakeholder Group

Onno Steenbeek

Onno Steenbeek (1967) is managing director of Strategic Portfolio Advice at APG Asset Management. This department is responsible for APG's advisory services regarding ALM and strategic asset allocation, as well as investment and pension innovation. The quantitative models employed by the department are used to optimize the financial strategy of associated pension funds with Assets under Management totalling around Euro 500 billion, for overall risk budgeting and for reporting purposes. In addition, the department leads research projects into e.g. the sustainability of current collective pension contracts, DC solutions and a broad range of investment topics.

Steenbeek also holds a Chair in Pension Fund Risk Management at the Erasmus School of Economics in Rotterdam, The Netherlands. Apart from supervising PhD-students and lecturing on various finance subjects, he conducts academic research and publishes books and articles. Every other year, he organizes a policy-oriented pension conference in Rotterdam.

In addition to his primary affiliations to APG and Erasmus University, Steenbeek is member of the Supervisory Board of Optimix Investment Funds N.V., treasurer of the investment fund of Volkskracht, a charity foundation in the city of Rotterdam and member of the Financial Investment Committee of the CropTrust Endowment in Bonn. He recently participated in a committee advising the Minister of Social Affairs on specific aspects of the Dutch pension law. Steenbeek also serves as co-chair of the Research Committee of the International Center for Pensions Management (ICPM, Toronto).
